

FAIR CREDIT REPORTING ACT DISCLOSURE

In connection with your application for employment/lease with Schneider National, Inc. and/or its affiliates and subsidiaries ("Schneider"), Schneider may obtain a Consumer Report and/or an Investigative Consumer Report regarding your character, general reputation, mode of living, motor vehicle record, criminal background record and/or other appropriate public record information from a Consumer Reporting Agency, as those terms are defined in the Fair Credit Reporting Act and amendments ("FCRA"). These reports may also include the names and dates of your previous employer/lessor, reasons for the termination of your prior employment/lease, work experience and any other type of information authorized under the FCRA or other applicable laws. Such reports may come from federal, state, local and/or any other agencies which contain and/or maintain such records. You may request in writing a complete disclosure of the nature and scope of the investigation to be performed.

FAIR CREDIT REPORTING ACT AUTHORIZATION

I hereby authorize Schneider to obtain consumer reports and/or investigative consumer reports, ("Consumer Reports") from any appropriate Consumer Reporting Agency and understand that such Consumer Reports may be used by Schneider in the determination of whether or not to offer me employment/lease.

I understand that I have the right to make a request of such Consumer Reporting Agencies, upon proper identification, of the nature and substance of all information in such files on me, including the source of information and recipients of any reports on me which have been previously furnished by the Consumer Reporting Agencies within the two year period preceding my request.

I hereby consent to allowing Schneider to obtain such Consumer Reports from any and all appropriate consumer reporting agencies and agree that such information maintained by such consumer reporting agencies will be supplied to Schneider and/or any other companies which subscribe to said services. I therefore authorize the procurement of said Consumer Reports by Schneider and, if hired/leased by Schneider, understand that this authorization shall remain on file and shall serve as on-going authorization for Schneider to procure additional Consumer Reports on at least an annual basis, or at any other time during my employment/lease (this consent can be provided verbally as well).

A Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act

The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. There are many types of consumer reporting agencies, including credit bureaus and specialty agencies (such as agencies that sell information about check writing histories, medical records, and rental history records). Here is a summary of your major rights under the FCRA. For more information, including information about additional rights, go to www.ftc.gov/credit or write to: Consumer Response Center, Room 130-A, Federal Trade Commission, 600 Pennsylvania Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20580.

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses a credit report or another type of consumer report to deny your application for credit, insurance, or employment – or to take another adverse action against you – must tell you, and must give you the name, address, and phone number of the agency that provided the information.
- You have the right to know what is in your file. You may request and obtain all the information about you in the files of a consumer reporting agency (your “file disclosure”). You will be required to provide proper identification, which may include your Social Security number. In many cases, the disclosure will be free. You are entitled to a free file disclosure if:
  - a person has taken adverse action against you because of information in your credit report;
  - you are the victim of identify theft and place a fraud alert in your file;
  - your file contains inaccurate information as a result of fraud;
  - you are on public assistance;
  - you are unemployed but expect to apply for employment within 60 days.

In addition, by September 2005 all consumers will be entitled to one free disclosure every 12 months upon request from each nationwide credit bureau and from nationwide specialty consumer reporting agencies. See www.ftc.gov/credit for additional information.

- You have the right to ask for a credit score. Credit scores are numerical summaries of your credit-worthiness based on information from credit bureaus. You may request a credit score from consumer reporting agencies that create scores or distribute scores used in residential real property loans, but you will have to pay for it. In some mortgage transactions, you will receive credit score information for free from the mortgage lender.
- You have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information. If you identify information in your file that is incomplete or inaccurate, and report it to the consumer reporting agency, the agency must investigate unless your dispute is frivolous. See www.ftc.gov/credit for an explanation of dispute procedures.
- Consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. Inaccurate, incomplete or unverifiable information must be removed or corrected, usually within 30 days. However, a consumer reporting agency may continue to report information it has verified as accurate.
- Consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information. In most cases, a consumer reporting agency may not report negative information that is more than seven years old, or bankruptcies that are more than 10 years old.
- Access to your file is limited. A consumer reporting agency may provide information about you only to people with a valid need -- usually to consider an application with a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business. The FCRA specifies those with a valid need for access.
- You must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers. A consumer reporting agency may not give out information about you to your employer, or a potential employer, without your written consent given to the employer. Written consent generally is not required in the trucking industry. For more information, go to www.ftc.gov/credit.

- You may limit “prescreened” offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report. Unsolicited “prescreened” offers for credit and insurance must include a toll-free phone number you can call if you choose to remove your name and address from the lists these offers are based on. You may opt-out with the nationwide credit bureaus at 1-888-567-8688.
- You may seek damages from violators. If a consumer reporting agency, or, in some cases, a user of consumer reports or a furnisher of information to a consumer reporting agency violates the FCRA, you may be able to sue in state or federal court.
- Identity theft victims and active duty military personnel have additional rights. For more information, visit www.ftc.gov/credit.

States may enforce the FCRA, and many states have their own consumer reporting laws. In some cases, you may have more rights under state law. For more information, contact your state or local consumer protection agency or your state Attorney General. Federal enforcers are:
